Armstrong Shipyard Deal Goes Through

Robert Armstrong of Armstrong Bros. shipyard announced this afternoon that the deal for the sale of the Kingston Street boat construction plant had been consummated.

The purchaser is J. Falconer, formerly connected with the Powell River Paper Company. Amount involved in the transfer was not revealed.

The Falconer interests, which on Monday acquired five adjacent lots from the city, plans to carry on the present boat building plant with plans for extension in the near future.

Oasis Going Dry

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP)—Point Roberts, veritable oasis for thirsty British Columbians, will go "dry" July 15 so far as draft beer is concerned.

'Heavy Fighting' Before Fall—Churchill

New Allied Drive In South Pacific; Land On Rendova

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States navy announced today that combined American forces have landed on Rendova Island in the central Solomons, in what appears to be the first stage of a new offensive operation against Japanese positions in the south Pacific.

The Japanese have had installations on the island and presumably the landing either was opposed or, if accomplished by surprise, developed into fighting shortly afterward.

The strategic intent of the American move except for its generally offensive nature in advancing American positions in the Solomons 110 miles northwest of the outpost in the Russell Islands, is not fully apparent.

Rendova's most obvious military characteristic is that it lies only about five miles south of Munda, where the Japanese late last year developed an air base. However, at the time the base was nearing completion it was brought under heavy American bombardment and has been regularly assaulted from the air since then so that navy spokesmen have recently reported it was practically useless to the enemy.

AIM MAY BE MUNDA

The American aim could be to take Munda for further Allied operations against either Bougainville, the main enemy-held island in the northwestern Solomons or against Rabaul, which lies still farther west.

Another possibility speculated on here is that the move against Rendova may have been of a screening or diversionary nature to obscure more important thrusts elsewhere.

Still another possibility is that the high command may be testing the extent of Japanese will to resist in the Solomons area.

The Japanese fought furiously and lost heavily in their efforts to recapture Guadalcanal. Any American advance which forced them to undertake similar defensive and costly action would be profitable from the American point of view.

SECOND DRIVE

This is the second advance in the Solomons chain since American troops went into Guadalcanal last Aug. About the time the conquest of Guadalcanal in the southeastern Solomons was completed Feb. 9 of this year, U.S. forces occupied without opposition the Russell Islands, lying 60 miles northwest of the Guadalcanal airfield.

The third move into Rendova Island, carries the front line of American strength in the south Pacific into the zone of Japanese domination and 110 nautical miles northwest of the previous position in the Russells.

The last previous American advance against Japan was begun May 11, when U.S. army forces moved into Attu Island at the western tip of the Aleutians chain. Attu was mopped up in three weeks. Prior to the Attu campaign the U.S. navy had announced the occupation of Funafuti, in the Ellice Islands in the south central Pacific.

'Full Air Umbrella' Over Mediterranean

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA (AP)—R.A.F. bombers struck concerted blows at both ends of Sicily's vital railroad ferry to the Italian mainland Monday night. Heavyweights from the Middle East command spread explosives on the mainland terminus at Reggio Calabria while two-engined Wellingtons from northwest Africa renewed the attack on battered Messina just across the two-mile strait.

Announcement today of the double-barrelled attack was accompanied by an official statement from British and United States air headquarters that a "complete air umbrella" now has been established over the Mediterranean between north Africa and Sicily.

"Now the whole of the Mediterranean from Gibraltar to Suez will be open to our shipping," the statement said, "bringing Alexandria within little more than 3,000 miles of England by comparison with the 12,000-mile route around the Cape, by which our Middle East forces formerly had to be supplied, and months of saving in time and shipping tonnage."

Monday night's onslaught by the R.A.F. clearly was designed to destroy Sicily's communication by ferry with the Italian mainland and virtually to isolate the big island in the event of invasion.

A communique of the Middle East command said heavy bombers started a number of fires in Reggio Calabria and returned to their bases without loss.

The long-range Wellingtons operating from northwest Africa dropped their bombs squarely on Messina's ferry terminal and railroad yards, the communique said, adding to the wreckage piled up by several days and nights of continuous assault on the city last week.

The aerial umbrella over the Sicilian straits is being maintained mainly by veteran British squadrons that have had long experience in guarding the hazardous approaches to the British Isles, the Allied statement said.

In daylight Tuesday, the Middle East command reported, long-range fighters swept across the eastern Mediterranean to attack enemy objectives in occupied Greece, shooting up a locomotive and destroying an Axis plane in combat.

Eden Advises Italy Surrender At Once

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called on Mussolini today to surrender unconditionally and said Britain has not and does not intend to approach Italy regarding the question of bombing Rome.

Addressing the House of Commons, Mr. Eden declared: "I think it would be in the interests of humanity if Signor Mussolini was to realize that the best thing he can do for his country is to accept the unconditional surrender terms offered to him."

Leaflets urging surrender have been dropped on Italian cities by Allied planes in recent raids, and unconditional surrender had been set at the Casablanca conference as the peace terms for the Axis.

Mr. Eden told the cheering House that "we would not hesitate to bomb Rome to the best of our ability and as heavily as possible if the course of the war should render such an action convenient and helpful."

Italy's Sufferings Traceable to Mussolini

When asked if the responsibility should not be placed squarely on Premier Mussolini for "not proclaiming Rome an open city in case any damage should be done to ancient monuments," Mr. Eden replied: "I think the responsibility is clear enough. No one invited Signor Mussolini to attack France and no one invited him to send his bombers to bomb London."

Mr. Eden said news dispatches June 23 to the effect that if Rome were divested of military objectives it might be considered an open town resulted from "a misunderstanding of some remarks made off the record at a press conference" and that the government's actual position was as he stated it today.

Gasoline for Groups Of Wood Cutters

VANCOUVER (CP)—No extra gas rations for woodcutting or other personal projects can be granted individuals, but consideration will be given bona fide group enterprises, P. A. Curry, regional oil controller, said today, following announcement of provision of special gasoline allowances for a bushwood cutting project in Victoria.

Replacement of coupons used in transporting the wood-cutters would be undertaken by the oil control, Maj. Curry explained, if each car carried a full load of passengers on each trip, and the project was under "responsible" supervision.

(The Victoria wood-cutting scheme has been organized by labor unions.) Asked if a local group of labor unions in co-operation with the new civil fuel office would be considered "responsible," Maj. Curry replied affirmatively.

Eden Advises Italy Surrender At Once

Opening a civil defence debate, Ellen Wilkinson, parliamentary under-secretary of the Home Office, announced a sharp reduction in Britain's air raid defence forces in the face of threats by the Germans of reprisals.

"The Germans must hit back at us or else confess to the world that the bomber command can make a rubble of their vital industries while they are helpless to do more than defend themselves," she declared, adding that while Nazi threats of reprisals are for home consumption, "Hitler can still stage a very nasty raid if he wishes to do so; the price will be high."

5,000,000 Fire Guards Ready for Action

Balancing this threat against the manpower needs for an Allied offensive, she reported that the civil defence establishment had been cut one-third in the last 12 months, and a further cut of 12½ per cent is under way, but not in especially vulnerable areas. Britain at present has 5,000,000 fire guards and 30,000 instructors, she said.

The air raid warnings system is "vastly improved" and new and more powerful fire fighting equipment is being provided.

"Our air raids on Germany are so terrible they stretch the German civil defence force to the utmost," she added. Capt. Harold H. Balfour, Under-secretary of State for Air, earlier reported that the R.A.F. had tripled its rate of bomb discharge on Germany since this time in 1942, and a German radio broadcast reported by the ministry of information said 1,100 planes and 30,000 guns have been concentrated for the defence of the Ruhr.

Makes No Apology, For Optimism On Progress of War

By HENRY B. JAMESON
LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill in a firm, confident speech declared today that "very probably there will be heavy fighting in the Mediterranean, and elsewhere, before the leaves of autumn fall."

He promised the Germans that the mighty arms of the Allied air forces "will lengthen by night and by day," seeking out more industrial and military targets with "exterminating force," and when the major cities of Germany are disposed of, "we will follow the war industry of the Reich to the smaller towns."

In the sea war, he announced that more than 30 enemy submarines were certainly destroyed in May, and that the destruction continues, with June "the best month we have ever known in the war."

Canadian and American shipbuilding had reached a stage where the output of new ships "is somewhere between seven and 10 times as much as our losses from enemy action in June." Scarcely a ship had been lost since mid-May.

The Prime Minister spoke after a ceremony honoring him in the fire-blackened Guildhall, where the freedom of the city of London was conferred on him.

He announced again that the Allies "demand from the Nazis and Fascists and Japanese tyrants unconditional surrender," and declared:

"Every man, every ship and every airplane in the King's service that can be moved to the Pacific will be sent there... for as many years as are needed to make the Japanese in their turn submit or bite the dust."

Though confidently predicting final triumph, Mr. Churchill later, in a luncheon at the Mansion House, said that "survival and victory are well within our grasp, but hard and painful may be the process by which we shall arrive at a satisfactory conclusion."

Italy, as yet subjected only to "preliminary and discursive bombardments," already is wondering where the blow of invasion will fall, Mr. Churchill said, while Hitler's worry over those Allied plans for assault "may have led to the remarkable long delay of opening the promised German offensive against Russia."

Detailing the tremendous air punishment heaped upon Germany, Mr. Churchill in his Guildhall speech disclosed that the R.A.F. in the first six months of this year has dropped 62,500 tons of bombs on Germany. He added that "in the whole first half of this year the enemy has discharged no more than 1,500 tons of bombs at a cost of 245 planes."

"Never was there such a case of bitter bitten" as in the booming of the aerial war upon the Axis powers who began it, Mr. Churchill said, and "presently the weight of the Russian air attack, now mainly absorbed by their long front line, will contribute an additional quota to the total blitz."

The powerful and growing United States air force "has by precision daylight bombing inflicted a grave injury upon the most sensitive nerve centre of the enemy's war production, and American crews and pilots are continually performing feats of arms of highest skill with dauntless audacity and devotion," he said.

Russian Planes Pound Germans On Azov Coast

By WILLIAM McCAFFIN

MOSCOW (AP)—Russian bombers have attacked Nazi-held Taman, on the Sea of Azov, two nights in succession, and military observers here concluded the Germans are moving fresh troops through that port for possible offensive action on the Taman Peninsula and in the Kuban delta.

Soviet aviation is being used extensively all along the front to upset German plans for an offensive, and the fact that it now appears to be concentrating on Taman is considered significant. There has been only sporadic action in the Kuban for many weeks.

RUSSIANS TAKE HILL

LONDON (CP)—Russian reconnaissance groups captured a strongly-defended hill in the Kalinin sector, killing 200 Germans, and smashed an enemy base in hand-to-hand fighting on the northwestern front, the Soviet noon communique received by Reuters announced today.

The war bulletin said there were no major changes, however, on any of the fronts Tuesday night, although minor actions by both infantry and artillery units resulted in damage and casualties at enemy installations.

The Russians said heavy guns and mortar fire smashed 32 pillboxes, 37 machine gun points, 15 dugouts, 15 observation points, a munition dump and a fuel dump on the Leningrad front.

The communique added that the guerrilla activity in the Minsk area resulted in the destruction of an enemy train and the destruction of two German garisons, with 119 Germans killed and 108 taken prisoner.

Food Pilfering

LONDON (CP)—Sir Robert Asker complained in the House of Commons today that cases of meat imported from the United States at times contain bricks and that drainpipes had been found in cases of canned salmon. William Mabane, parliamentary secretary for the ministry of food, replied that the quantity pilfered was negligible and could not be avoided.

170,000 Tons Steel Loss Results From Coal Stoppages

NEW YORK (AP)—The three stoppages of production in United States coal mines this year have resulted in a loss of 170,000 tons of steel, Iron Age, steel trade publication, said today in its weekly survey.

"A week after John L. Lewis called off the third and most serious walkout," said the report, "the steel industry still is dangerously low on coal and coke because of the slowness of the miners' return to work."

"It is now feared coal and coke stockpiles cannot be rebuilt to a point of safety for the duration of the war. Stocks at by-products plants were only 5.4 days in April prior to the big drains caused by the trouble with Lewis. In July, 1939, they equalled 25 days."

"So, when Donald M. Nelson, War Production Board head, and other high officials arrive in Pittsburgh Thursday this week to open the campaign for more steel they will find, in addition to depleted coal piles, that the district is operating at the lowest point since May, 1940."

"Only a 2 per cent increase in steel ingot output will be achieved in the first six months of this year compared with the same part of 1942. National output this week is 93 per cent, temporarily down 5½ points, lowest since 1940. In the third and fourth quarters, barring another coal strike, output is scheduled to rise and for the full year will set an all-time record, but will be short of the 92,000,000-ton goal commonly mentioned at the start of 1943."

Military Hospitals Increase Capacity

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence headquarters said today that reorganization of a number of military hospitals is under way, with the bed capacity of one in central Canada, one in the west and two in the maritimes being increased.

An increase in the number of officers, nursing sisters and soldiers is also contemplated, the brief statement said.

"It is laid down, with regard to other ranks, that general service personnel suitable for overseas service will not be posted to these hospitals, which are located in Niagara, Charlottetown, New Glasgow (N.S.) and Saskatoon," it was stated.

U.S. Takes Control Of All Wood Pulp
WASHINGTON (AP) — The War Production Board has taken control over the use of all wood pulp in the United States and issued orders forbidding any deliveries of pulp to paper and paperboard manufacturers without express W.P.B. authority.
The action was ordered, the W.P.B. said, because the demands of the army, navy, lend-lease and other claimants "have become so insistent and the shortages of woodpulp so severe" that steps became necessary to assure supplies for war use.
All grades of pulp are affected, including pulp for newsprint.

Nazi Centre in France Attacked Le Mans Pounded By U.S. Fortresses

LONDON (CP)—While the big bombers of the R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. apparently were grounded Tuesday night, other planes of the combined command carried out raids along the shores of France, following up a daylight attack by U.S. heavies against Le Mans, France.
No major assaults were reported by the air ministry today, following Monday night's pulverizing attacks against Cologne and Hamburg that hit a new high in the devastation heaped on Germany's war machine in a single month.
However, R.A.F. aircraft scouted along the French coast and pounced on six enemy ships, including their E-boat escort force, and damaged three of them despite what pilots referred to as "an intense barrage of flak," the air ministry reported today.
Pilots of the Channel patrol sighted a ship between 1,500 and 2,000 tons, a tugboat and four E-boats which apparently had just left port and were heading toward Ostend.
Two planes leading the attack dived in and raked the merchant ship and escort with cannon fire and bombs, the ministry said. The pilots were unable to observe the effect of the attack, however, because of the intensity of the defence.
HITS REGISTERED
Other planes dived in later and reported hits on the merchant ship, the tugboat and one of the escort craft. One of the planes was reported missing.
Few details of the American attack against Le Mans were released. The official announcement today merely said that Tuesday afternoon the heavy bombers carried out the raid, protected by U.S. fighters.
The escort force accounted for two enemy planes, the ministry issued today by the U.S. 8th Air Force said, and added that the bombers destroyed additional enemy planes. However, the number was not immediately disclosed.
The communiqué said that opposition encountered by the raiders was "not too pronounced."
Le Mans, capital of the Sarthe department, is situated on the Sarthe River about 130 miles southwest of Paris and in normal times has a population of about 80,000. It is the site of chemical industries vital to the German war effort.
The German-controlled Vichy radio, giving its version of the raid, said a town in northern France had been bombed during the night by Allied planes and reported that at least 40 persons had been killed. The broadcast did not identify the town by name.
Later the Nazi-operated Paris radio reported several neighboring villages had been hit, with some resulting casualties among the civilian population.
BRITAIN UNMOLESTED
While the bombers were carrying the current Allied aerial offensive into its 11th successive day Britain enjoyed another raid free night. Not a single German plane has now been seen over Britain for five days, though an alert was sounded in London Sunday by mistake.
The last German raid of any size was June 6, when Nazi planes attacked a town on the east coast.
The magnitude of the Allied aerial offensive was emphasized meanwhile by Sir Harold H. Balfour, Under-Secretary of State for Air, who told the House of Commons today that the R.A.F. now is dropping bombs on Germany at three times the 1942 rate.
Reply to a question, Capt. Balfour said that about 37,500 tons of bombs had been dropped on Germany in the three months ended June 26 as compared with approximately 12,000 tons in the corresponding period for 1942.

4,000 Airmen Now at School

OTTAWA (CP)—Most of the men now joining the R.C.A.F. require special educational training to meet the requirements of the air force, Air Minister Power said today at a meeting of the Senate finance committee.
"We have a waiting list, but no more than we need," Maj. Power said.
Because of the high educational standards, there was increasing difficulty in getting men with the necessary educational background. At present some 2,500 men were attending war-emergency training classes and 1,500 were at universities.
Questioned by Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lib., Alberta, Maj. Power said that of some 5,000 Americans in the R.C.A.F. before Pearl Harbor, about 3,000 had later taken advantage of the opportunity to join the U.S. forces. It was estimated the training these men had received had a value of about $25,000,000.
Questioned by Senator P. R. DuTremblay, Lib., Quebec, Maj. Power said Canada's air defence is "reasonably strong" and could probably withstand any general attack, although there could be no guarantee that an odd bomber could not get through and reach some Canadian cities. The air defence included provision to bomb enemy aircraft carriers or battle-ships as well as submarines, and fighter craft to meet any invading bombers.

C.P. London Staff Increased to 12

LONDON (CP)—The London bureau staff of the Canadian Press was increased to 12 today with the arrival of Sydney Gruson of Toronto. Gruson, just off the New York cable desk, visited his parents in Canada a few days before flying to England.
The Canadian Press crew is the largest group in the Canadian newspaper colony, which now totals more than 30. The CBC is next with seven Canadians, and the United Press, the Toronto Star and the Toronto Evening Telegram each have two Canadian representatives. Other news organizations represented overseas are the Montreal Star, Gazette and Standard, the Toronto Globe and Mail, the Windsor Star and the Sifton and Southam newspaper groups.
Since the start of the war the CP has more than doubled its London staff. When Britain declared war Sept. 3, 1939, five CP men in London handled British and continental news for Canada.

July War Stamps Help Black Out Hitler's U-Boats

A chance to send a real message to Hitler or any of his "gang" is offered Victorians who buy War Savings Stamps during the next five-week campaign to "Stamp Out the U-Boat!"
Every stamp bought during the drive will be used to purchase depth charges for Canada's submarine-killing navy. With each purchase of four 25-cent stamps, the buyer will have the privilege of selecting a pungent greeting to write on a "stamp-o-gram" which will be signed with his or her name and address. The "stamp-o-grams" will be attached to a tally sheet bearing 90 of them, which represents the price of one depth charge.
By special arrangement with the R.C.N., the tally sheets will be taken to sea, attached to depth charges and when the T.N.T.-packed "ash cans" go thundering into Hitler's under-sea wolf-packs from the decks of the R.C.N.'s fighting ships, the purchaser of the "stamp-o-gram" will rest assured his message was effectively "delivered."
There is a large choice of messages. Some, addressed to a U-boat commander on patrol, are: "I've bought a piece of this depth charge to help give you a bang-up time!" and, "On land, wolves are shot and poisoned! Here's a dose of poison for you!" Others are: "This is a small sample of how we feel about you!" and "Here's hoping this can has your number!"
Adolph Hitler also has his special "greetings." Some people might choose: "What we would like to see—this depth charge explode, right in der Fuehrer's face!" There are others addressed to the sailors of the Royal Canadian Navy, offering them "Good luck and good hunting!" Admiral Karl Doenitz, Grand Admiral of the German Navy, comes in for his share, too.
For those who have some pungent sentiments of their own there are messages with blank spaces for the buyer to write in. The censor would delete them from publication, but they will still be effectively "delivered" to the Nazis.

President Lin Sinking.
"CHUNGKING (AP)—The condition of ailing President Lin Sen showed a "slight decline" today, his physicians reported, and he is conscious only part of the time. The aged President became ill May 11. His condition was reported serious May 30, but he subsequently rallied.

Meat Plants Resume On U.S. Pacific Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Packing plants on the U.S. Pacific coast will resume operations tomorrow under the new July 1 quotas and meat supplies should return to "wartime normal" quickly, says Frank Marsh, regional Office of Price Administration chief.
Marsh returned from a tour of the coast during which he investigated the meat situation. Exhaustion of quotas was a large factor in the suspension of about 12 western plants and slowing of operations in many others, he said.
He added, however, that other factors are contributing to the acute meat shortage which has resulted in closing of a number of butcher shops in southern California and curtailed operations of meat vendors up and down the coast.

These, he said, include black markets, price squeezes, livestockmen who are holding for higher prices and inflation hedging.
Guy Kinaley, an assistant in the O.P.A. office, declared that "in Arizona I heard of stockmen holding cattle for $20 a hundred-weight compared with $17.25 being paid on the Los Angeles market."

Marsh explained that by "inflation hedging" he meant some livestockmen prefer owning cattle to government bonds in order to avoid the loss in cash which would be entailed if they sold now and the price continued to rise.

Halfbreed Faces Trial

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Jean Marie Montgrand, 17-year-old Chipewyan halfbreed trapper, charged with the murder of Gabriel Sylvester, 20, a north country hunter and trapper, has been committed for trial by Magistrate J. E. Lussier.
At the preliminary hearing here Tuesday night, Cpl. R. W. Buchanan of the R.C.M.P., testified that Montgrand had confessed, making a statement in which he was quoted as saying: "I am sorry I shot Gabriel, but I want to kill when I shoot gun at him."
Montgrand's trial will be held at the next session of the King's Bench Court at Battleford.

P.O. 'Joe' Ross Killed in Crash

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Officials at No. 5 Service Flying Training School here today released the names of three airmen killed Tuesday when a twin-engine Avro Anson aircraft in which they were flying crashed on a farm near Glen Morris.
The men were: P.O. George Hugh Ross of Vancouver, instructor at the school, whose wife lives in Brantford, and LAC. Donald Gordon McQueen of Hamilton, and LAC. William Albert McIntosh of Toronto, both student pilots.
(Better known as "Joe" Ross, P.O. Ross was an outstanding athlete. He was a star of the former Meraloma Canadian football eleven and twice a member of Canadian championship basketball teams—Westerns in 1938 and Maple Leafs in 1940.)

Japs, Riots Inquiry Topics in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Final preparations were made by a Dies sub-committee today for the opening tomorrow of what promises to be a prolonged congressional hearing on conditions in Japanese relocation camps in the United States.
At the same time Chairman Martin Dies (Dem., Tex.) announced the full committee had decided to inquire into the causes behind recent racial disturbances, such as last week's Detroit rioting, which took more than a score of lives.
Committee investigators already in the field, he said, had turned up evidence which led him to predict "important developments."

Fire Kills 5 Men

OTTAWA (CP)—Death toll in the fire Tuesday in the Nobel, Ont., cordite plant of Defence Industries Ltd. rose to five today with the death of A. Noland of Callander, Ont., the Munitions Department announced today. Up to Tuesday night four deaths had been reported—H. Lawson of Gordon Bay, Ont., J. Pavis of Shawanaga, Ont., L. G. Hudson of Barrow, Ont., and Arthur Bussell of Parry Sound, Ont.

Nazi Claims of Sinkings

LONDON (CP)—The German high command, in a communiqué broadcast from Berlin and recorded by the Associated Press today, claimed Nazi submarines had sunk eight merchant vessels totaling 49,000 tons, a destroyer and three sailing ships in attacks on Allied shipping in the Atlantic and Mediterranean.
(The communiqué did not specify the period in which the reported sinkings were claimed and comparisons with Allied reports of shipping losses therefore are impossible. The Germans have acknowledged, however, that new Allied defensive measures have made the work of Nazi submarines increasingly difficult.)

Wherever they go in the line of duty . . . it's up to us to be on hand . . .

We can do it, if we send "snapshots from home"—the boys themselves say these homey little pictures mean more than almost anything else we can send.

It's hard to get film now. The Navy, Army and Air Force require so much that Kodak Film is now rationed to dealers. That makes it doubly important to use what film you get for the really important job. Include new snapshots in every letter — make it a "visit home."

Apricots, Peaches Far Below Last Year

VERNON, B.C. (CP)—Apricot and peach production in British Columbia this year will be from 25 to 37 per cent of normal, it is estimated by the provincial Department of Agriculture, but the cherry and prune crops will likely show increases.

Cherries are expected to start moving to the fresh fruit market from the Okanagan next week, the department says in its fortnightly horticultural news letter, which also notes good prospects for raspberries and other cane fruits on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland.

Estimates of stone fruit production for the province, with last year's figures in brackets, are: Cherries, 240,320 crates (228,938); peaches, 358,700 (957,825); apricots, 52,820 (243,857); plums, 114,075 (146,192); prunes, 525,950 (354,640).

Important Notice to All Who Have Fire Insurance Policies

The War Risk Exclusion Clause of all Fire insurance policies in British Columbia has been changed by Act of Parliament as follows:

"(1) Clause (b) of Condition 4 of the Statutory Conditions "set forth in Section 145 of The Insurance Act of British Columbia is suspended, and the following substituted therefor:

"(b) for loss or damage caused by insurrection, riot, civil commotion or usurped power, or for war damage "as defined by paragraph (m) of Section 2 of the War Risk Insurance Act, 1942 (Canada), and as interpreted "by a certain Order of the Governor-General in Council "numbered P.C. 110938, dated the Third Day of December, "1942.

"(2) Subject to the exception stated in Sub-section 1 of Section "146, Clause (b) of Condition 4 of the Statutory Conditions, as "enacted by this Section, shall be deemed to be part of every "contract of fire insurance now in force or hereafter made, not "withstanding that it is not printed on the policy.

"(3) This section shall continue in operation only until a day to "be named by the Lieutenant-Governor by his Proclamation."

This change was due to two main reasons, the first being that the present Statutory Condition is out of date and, in relation to modern war conditions, is obscure. It does not fulfill its purpose of specifying the particular aspects of War perils which it is intended to exclude.

The second reason is that the Dominion Government has provided a scheme for War Risk Insurance and also a definition of the War perils embraced. It is undesirable that there should be an overlap between the ordinary Fire policies and the Dominion War Risk Scheme, which under some circumstances might obtain under the present Statutory Condition. The Insurance Companies have also signed agreements with the Dominion Government not to write insurance which conflicts with the War Risk Scheme.

Under the change in the Statutory Condition the insuring clause which defines the perils insured against under the Dominion War Risk Scheme is used as the exclusion clause of the Fire policy.

NOTE: Similar changes have been made in most of the other Provinces.

The Insurance Companies represented by the undernoted Association have also agreed that the ADDITIONAL PERILS SUPPLEMENTAL CONTRACT which is attached to many Fire insurance policies and which includes insurance against EXPLOSION in addition to Windstorm, Hail, Lightning, Riot, Impact by Aircraft or Vehicles, Smoke Damage and Leakage from Automatic Sprinkler Systems, may be made subject to a similar War Risk Exclusion Clause in lieu of the existing one. This latter change is of material advantage to the insuring Public, and one which the Insurance Companies are pleased to be able to make.

Gallup Poll

'Off With Their Heads' Fate for Axis Bosses

TORONTO — Some day, somewhere, some group will have to determine the actual physical fate of the trio—Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito—if they survive the war. Public opinion in the United Nations will have some bearing on the judgment.

As far as Canada is concerned, public opinion today gives these three men short shrift, and if they were to be brought today before the Bar of Public Opinion, right now, they would get small sympathy.

Recalling the widespread and heated debate after World War I as to the fate of William Hohenzollern, the Gallup Poll probed the people's views on current aggressors by asking:

"If it were your job to sentence the following men for their past actions, would you imprison, execute, or exile them?"

The names of Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito were then offered. Mussolini may be able to squeeze a little comfort from the fact that a few persons would be a little gentler with him than they would be with his two partners in crime, but this is the only comfort which any of the trio could get from the verdict of the Canadian people:

	Hitler	Mussolini	Hirohito
Execute	67%	33%	67%
Exile	11	21	14
Imprison	11	14	11
Other	1	3	4
Undecided	9	9	10

This, then, is the judgment of Canadians when offered only three possible destinies for Axis leaders. But if the field were wide open in other words, if the public were not confined to a verdict of exiling, executing, or imprisoning them, the result

More July Beer In Alberta, Ontario

EDMONTON (CP) — J. A. King, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, announced Tuesday night that the July beer quota in Alberta will be increased from one dozen to two dozen pint bottles. There is no change in the liquor quota of 26 ounces or the wine quota of one bottle.

SUPPLIES FOR TROOPS

TORONTO (CP) — Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon, Ontario provincial treasurer and chairman of the Liquor Control Board of Ontario, said an increased allotment of beer will be made available by the board in July, although there will be no increase in the amount allowed the individual ration-book holder.

Mr. Gordon said the increase will approximate the amount consumed in military establishments—which were placed under a separate quota of one gallon a month per soldier, about three weeks ago by federal authorities — along with a carryover from the June civilian allotment.

The increased allotment will be divided equally between authority holders and home consumers, Mr. Gordon said. The amount of increase still had to be worked out.

The July allotment for individual ration-book holders is the same as in June—36 pints.

U.S. Year's Outlay Above $80,000,000,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States government broke all records for spending money in the fiscal year which ends today, yet failed to spend it as fast as the budget provided for.

In the 12 months, the treasury laid out more than $80,000,000,000. War costs accounted for $71,500,000,000. The budget had set aside $74,000,000,000 for war purposes. The $80,000,000,000 total was more than double the $36,000,000,000 the United States spent in the previous year. It pales however beside the $109,000,000,000 standard President Roosevelt has set for the coming year.

4 Years of War, Says Frank Knox

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — Navy Secretary Frank Knox believes the United States and her allies face a long and bitter war, one which may last three or four years before the Axis is crushed.

Speaking Tuesday at a meeting of senior army, navy and marine officials and executives of San Diego city and county governments, Knox said "the time is approaching when the United Nations can put into effect plans for victory."

"And for our own success," he continued, "let me urge that it's better to calculate that the war will last from three to four years more, and take steps to that effect."

Planes to Spread Gas If Enemy Starts It

WASHINGTON (AP) — Look to the bombers, not the artillery, for poison gas attacks in this war, says Maj.-Gen. William N. Porter, chief of the U.S. chemical warfare service.

The commandant, in testimony made public Tuesday by a Senate committee, said that gas, if used, would be dropped from planes in big bombs or as a spray.

Gen. Porter said it was unlikely any gas would be propelled into enemy lines by shell or cylinder, as in the First Great War.

Plastic buckets are being used in England to replace rubber containers for carrying acids in electroplating and other industries.

Percentage figures on American plane losses are restricted, because they would lend themselves readily to computation of total strength of the U.S. air force. However, it can be said that the ratio of losses is one plane to somewhat better than three enemy planes. In addition to this over-all score, separate records show that in the south Pacific theatre U.S. army fliers have destroyed better than five enemy planes for each American plane lost.

It's impossible to break down American plane losses into those destroyed by enemy planes and by enemy anti-aircraft guns, because flak from the ground guns can cripple a plane, after which fighters can shoot it down, leaving it a matter of guesswork as to which type of opposition caused the loss.

Another question points to the frequent reports from abroad that British fighter planes have escorted American bombers in raids on the continent, which gives the impression the United States is without fighter planes.

There are several reasons why U.S. fighters are not mentioned more frequently in dispatches from Europe, but none is based on lack of such planes. One reason why we have not heard more about American fighters from Europe is that Britain in its defensive war had for years been building fighters, and had great numbers of such planes in England. This made it unnecessary for the U.S. army to concentrate on fighters there, and it devoted its energy to offensive planes—the bombers.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

The unprecedented hammering which the Allied air fleets are administering to the enemy in blazing a trail to victory—an historic experiment which may determine how far air power can go in winning a war on its own—has raised several questions about the United States' aerial fighting arm.

One relates to American plane losses and the percentage of U.S. craft shot down by enemy planes, and the percentage by anti-aircraft fire from the ground. There are some highly interesting facts wrapped up in these points, but there also is considerable dynamite from the standpoint of the censor.

Percentage figures on American plane losses are restricted, because they would lend themselves readily to computation of total strength of the U.S. air force. However, it can be said that the ratio of losses is one plane to somewhat better than three enemy planes. In addition to this over-all score, separate records show that in the south Pacific theatre U.S. army fliers have destroyed better than five enemy planes for each American plane lost.

It's impossible to break down American plane losses into those destroyed by enemy planes and by enemy anti-aircraft guns, because flak from the ground guns can cripple a plane, after which fighters can shoot it down, leaving it a matter of guesswork as to which type of opposition caused the loss.

This made it unnecessary for the U.S. army to concentrate on fighters there, and it devoted its energy to offensive planes—the bombers.

Another pertinent reason is that U.S. bombers, notably the Flying Fortress, have great fighting power, and can operate on bombing missions without fighter protection. These giants have a score of better than seven or eight enemy planes shot down for each Fortress lost.

Brig. W. W. Foster Now Maj.-General

OTTAWA (CP) — Promotion to the rank of major-general of Brig. W. W. Foster, D.S.O., 67, of Vancouver, recently appointed special commissioner for defence projects in northwest Canada, is announced by the defence department.

The promotion is effective from May 7, the date when he assumed his duties as commissioner. In the northwest post he is attached to the Privy Council office to provide easy liaison with the war committee of the cabinet, to which he reports directly.

The departmental statement said Brig. Foster was made a major-general to provide him with a rank suitable to the duties he is called on to perform in his association with United States officials in the northwest area.

Council Opposes Saanich Division

Saanich Municipal Council is not in favor of abolition of the ward system and will so inform the Saanich Ratepayers' Association, it was decided at a meeting of the council Tuesday night.

The resolution, brought in by Councillor John Oliver, in response to a request received at the last council meeting from the Ratepayers' Association, said that the association should be informed that the council has the confidence of the voters and is not in favor of a plebiscite to see whether or not the ward system should be abolished.

Councillor K. W. Richmond, Ward Seven, was the lone dissenter in the passing of the resolution.

Councillor J. L. Hobbs reported on arrangements for obtaining payment of fees from patients sent to Isolation Hospital, and it was agreed that payment should be enforced by the hospital, the municipality to stand the cost of collection.

Watering restrictions will be enforced immediately, according to a resolution introduced by Councillor George Austin and passed by the council. Sprinkling will be permitted on alternate days throughout the municipality.

Gilbert Parker was appointed mechanic, and H. Blakeney, approving officer, and it was decided to send three delegates to the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, to be held in Port Alberni in September.

A tent by-law was passed, governing erection of tents in any part of the municipality and requiring licenses for the same.

Playground Program In Full Swing Here

Victoria's supervised playground program was fully launched today in two city parks following special events at Beacon Hill Park Tuesday evening.

The function there followed a similar one at Central Park Monday night.

Next week Oak Bay will start its program with suitable ceremonies and the three playgrounds for which supervision has been planned this year will proceed with their activities.

Young tumblers and dancers of Pro Rec groups provided one of the highlights of Tuesday evening's show at Beacon Hill, where the Victoria Schools Band under the direction of Al Prescott gave an excellent musical program. Members of the Y.M.C.A. track team under Bill Dale went through limbering up routine in a demonstration of workout procedure for runners.

Ald. P. E. George, playground committee chairman, introduced by W. H. Warren, parks superintendent, sketched the activities planned for the year and extended an invitation to children of the Gonzales Bay, Fairfield, and James Bay districts, as well as those in the area immediately adjacent to the park to take full advantage of the program offered.

Supervisor Miss Anne Lyster was introduced to the gathering as was Frances Borde, who will be in charge of activity at Central Park.

Ald. George outlined plans for social dances in North Ward School auditorium during the summer for teen-age youngsters and reminded children of arrangements made for swimming at the Crystal Garden.

Representatives of the Oak Bay playground attended the opening and made plans with officials to co-ordinate activity as far as possible.

Volunteers prepared to assist professional supervisors are requested to telephone Mrs. W. Blair at G 6503.

Dr. C. B. Conway Welcomes 700. to Summer School

The Summer School of Education was officially opened at the Victoria High School at 11 this morning as Dr. C. B. Conway gave the welcoming address to an assembly of over 700 students.

Although approximately 600 in the enrolled courses are B.C. teachers, many came from as far as Sawyerville, Que., and north from Atlin, the prairie provinces being represented by nearly 100 students.

To meet the increase in enrollment due to the Department of Education's abolition of fees and the recent labor shortage among the teaching profession, courses have been greatly extended during this 30th session which lasts from June 30 to Aug. 4.

In continuance of its policy of bringing outstanding educators before B.C. teachers, the summer school presents among others, Mrs. Irene Bostwick, assistant professor of music from the University of Washington, who conducted summer school courses here in 1940, Miss Lucille Wall, C. Ed., and Dr. Reuben D. Law, M.S., Ed.D., professor and chairman of the Department of Elementary Education from Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah.

Because of the critical shortage in housing accommodation, many of the students are having difficulty in finding suitable accommodation. Dr. Conway pointed out, especially since as a rule they are not in position to pay the prevailing high costs. Arrangements are being made with several large private schools for the accommodation of a number of them during the summer months.

Many Victoria school teachers are on the faculty of the summer school. Among these are Miss Winnett A. Copeland, primary specialist, from Sir James Douglas School; Mrs. Evelyn Hatton, B.C., formerly instructor of Home Economics from Central Junior High School; Harold P. Johns, M.A., Victoria High School; Miss Marion Shaffer, B.A., commercial specialist, Dominion-Provincial War Emergency School; Miss Marian James, primary supervisor of Victoria; Miss Barbara Hinton, physical education from Victoria Normal School; and Rudyard Kipling, formerly of Central Junior High School, who is taking over the position as principal of Burnside School in the fall.

Classes will start at 8 a.m. with a break at 11 a.m., when some form of cultural entertainment such as musical acts or dramatics will be presented to the assembly.

The first of this series of concerts will be on July 1, when the English vocalists, Viola Morris and Victoria Anderson, will give one of the concerts of which one reviewer said "... without doubt one of the most unusual combinations. One does not know whether to favor the soprano or the contralto until the perfect blending of the two voices reveals their real forte and stills once and for all the inclination's restless entering."

Joe Addison Missing From Air Operations

PO. JOE ADDISON

P.O. Joseph H. "Joe" Addison, leading Canadian quartermaster and competitor in the 1936 British Empire Games, is missing after air operations overseas, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Addison, 736 Linkleas Avenue.

One of the finest athletes ever developed in Victoria, the former "Y" flier joined the forces early in the war. He left the city police force for the Canadian Forestry Corps with which he went overseas. In Britain he transferred to the R.C.A.F. 15 months ago and was commissioned after graduating as wireless operator-air gunner.

In recent letters to friends here he had voiced enthusiasm over his work and had reported he was using his spare time to get into shape for running this summer.

His track career dated back to Victoria High School days where he followed Lynn Patrick as senior champion. With Archie McKinnon's Y.M.C.A. team he won provincial and northwest honors and went east to seek Canadian laurels and membership on teams for international meets.

Specializing in the quartermile, he won a place on the Canadian British Empire Games team for the London games in 1936.

A perennial winner in police sports here, he was in a class by himself at his special distance in B.C. He continued running overseas and won regimental honors in service meets in Britain.

GREAT TEAM LEADER

In addition to being the best of Victoria's sprinters, he lent city teams a grand leadership which helped to carry them to aggregate honors in many meets.

As well as track, he was interested in rugby, playing wing three-quarter for the J.B.A.A.

His wife and six-year-old daughter are living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kershaw, 3016 Harriet Road.

2½ Hours of Army Show High In Entertainment

By A. M. THOMAS

Two and a half hours of the Army Show at the Royal Victoria Theatre Tuesday proved not a minute too long for an audience that crowded the building to capacity and shook it with appreciative laughter.

It was the first of two performances for the Victoria public, the second being presented again tonight.

Unfortunately there is no basis for comparison by which to judge the show. Unfortunate for Victoria, that is, since nothing quite like it has ever been seen here before.

It was Victoria's first sight of a purely "revue" type of show, something more than vaudeville yet with no continuity as to story but a definite unbroken theme.

Risking a charge of invidiousness, it must be said that the show, excellent as it was throughout, hinged on the two comedians-in-chief, Shuster and Wayne, and the equally hilarious Mildred Morey, the latter a combination of Gracie Fields, whom she successfully impersonated, and Martha Raye.

MUSIC STANDS OUT

Music was outstanding, both orchestra and male chorus being above the average of even the more expensive type of road show, just as the drops and lighting effects were more effective.

There was a lavish chorus line of beautiful Cwacs, all endowed with voices, a sparkling "book" of original lyrics and dialogue and dancing a-plenty.

The Army Show got under way Tuesday night when members of the cast paraded down the aisles on the stage in uniform for the opening chorus, "That's an Order From the Army," to set a fast tempo for what was to follow.

that switched the acts, for example, from an army recruiting office to a South American exterior.

Shuster and Wayne starred in the first act, as a pair of privates on canteen fatigue badgered by a hectoring sergeant, a happier note being struck when the Cwacs appeared as the canteen hostesses, beautifully costumed and hectorically introduced by the ebullient Mildred Morey. A modified can-can written into the set gave the chorus an opportunity to show what they could do, and in a nice enough way, what they looked like.

BURLESQUE STAR

Sgt. Connie Vernon was another Cwac star with a burlesque operatic number, whose style she repeated later in the show as a classical dancer.

The first half closed with a rousing boogie woogie number, again led by Morey and featured by the two principal dancers, Sgts. Lynda Tuero and Hal Seymour.

The second half led off with the most beautiful number in the show. Based on the old idea of the dream with a soldier going to sleep in a black stage into which girl visions drifted, it was carried out with imagination and a fine sense of dramatic beauty.

Subtle lighting effects pointed up a fan dance by the Cwac ensemble, danced to a musical score by Capt. Robert Farnon that is worth preservation for its own sake.

The comedy highlight of the show was the army medical examination skit that followed, Shuster and Wayne again starring as the doctor and the recruit.

The limit in "wackiness" was also reached in this number, which rivalled anything Olsen and Johnson have ever done. Shuster, as a doctor, performing an operation "for the honor of the R.C.A.M.C. men," gets mixed up in his staccato orders to "pass the scalpel" and "pass the

Women Golfers' Spitfire Finds 'Soul' In South Africa

By SCOTT YOUNG
*LONDON (CP)—"W" was a Spitfire with a soul. "W" belonged to a South African squadron in north Africa and was never flown by Canadians. But she was built with Canadian money—the quarters and dollars of Canadian women golfers. And now that she has been out of action, away from her South African squadron, a letter has been written to the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union telling about her.

The man who wrote this letter is the South African commanding this squadron, Maj. D. D. Moodie.

He tells about the battles "W" went through with his squadron, the low-level attack that routed a German armored column attacking a small French force, the protection she provided to Kittyhawks on anti-shipping patrols, to Walrus on sea sorties, to bigger planes on bombing missions.

He recalls how once part of her windshield was shot away by heavy German flak. He told how she was with 11 other Spits who attacked more than 30 German Messerschmitts and Italian Macchis and how her pilot poured so much fire into the cockpit of one Macchi that he came back and said it must have had a self-sealing fuselage to stay airborne.

And he told of the last days in north Africa when "W" went on escort jobs around the peninsula and Gulf of Tunis with such regularity that the trip was called "Cook's tour."

"W's" great day was one of her last. Her formation ran into 12 FW190's, topped by another 12 Messerschmitts and Macchis. The Spits attacked, got one destroyed and three probables. "W" got one of the probables, an FW190, and that battle was the first time one of these good German fighters had been brought down in the western desert.

Finally, the letter says, "it became necessary to send her away for an engine change."

Women members of the various Victoria golf clubs contributed to this Spitfire when the fund was raised here a couple of years ago.

Volunteer Aspect Of W.V.S. Under Consideration

OTTAWA (CP)—Whether the government should finance the organization and work of Women's Voluntary Service centres or whether the W.V.S. should be kept on a voluntary basis was discussed Tuesday at a business meeting of representatives of the organization from coast to coast.

Some delegates said they felt it would be impossible to continue the work of W.V.S. centres without government funds but others held that the W.V.S., a voluntary organization, would fail in its purpose and have less independence if financed by the government.

A committee was appointed to study the problem and is expected to report back to the meeting later.

The meeting, on the second day of the three-day conference, was presided over jointly by Mrs. W. West and Mrs. Paul Hamel of the Department of National War Services.

An outline of a "job analysis" for a W.V.S. centre—the purpose of which is to co-ordinate all war-time voluntary services in a district—was presented by Mrs. M. Emerson of Toronto. She said that in Toronto 8,874 placements of volunteers to 72 voluntary organizations had been effected during a six-month period.

Dealing with the relationship between W.V.S. centres throughout the country and the national office, Mrs. West said the national office has "an advisory rather than directional function."

But if W.V.S. was to obtain a unity of spirit and coherence, there should be some direction from the national office. "If W.V.S. is to be national in scope, then the goals must be national," she said.

Announces Priorities On Long Distance

In co-operation with all telephone systems in Canada and the United States, the British Columbia Telephone Co. will inaugurate July 1 a system of priorities for urgent long-distance telephone calls pertaining to the war effort.

The volume of long-distance telephone traffic is now such that there is sometimes considerable delay between certain points. The plan of priorities will not ration long-distance calls, but will merely provide that when lines are crowded, certain urgent calls pertaining to public safety or the successful conduct of the war may be given preferred handling.

Government services and other telephone users who might be entitled to use the priorities plan are now being interviewed by representatives of the commercial department of the British Columbia Telephone Company, who are explaining the circumstances under which the priorities may be requested and the method of doing so.

Saanich Board Inquiry Sought

To settle the situation which has arisen in the Saanich Municipal School Board, resulting in the resignation of Trustees Frank Tupman and J. R. L. Burridge, a resolution calling for the appointment by Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, of a special commission to investigate, was passed at the meeting of the Saanich Municipal Council last night.

The resolution, introduced by Reeve E. C. Warren, stated that "it is the opinion of this council that unsatisfactory conditions exist in a Saanich school, which has caused the resignation of two of our most valued trustees, as well as the fact that one of the remaining members of the board has asked the Department of Education for a report and advice by Inspector H. B. King."

All this has left the school board in a "rather chaotic condition," the resolution stated.

It suggested that the commission be asked to investigate matters, particularly with regard to the administration of corporal punishment in the schools and other matters.

It further requested that, to obviate the necessity of a by-election, an official trustee be appointed to act during the period of investigation of the commission and as long after as might be deemed necessary up to but not beyond the time of the next election, in December.

The resolution was adopted upon the recommendation of Reeve Warren, who said that it would "be fair to everyone and in the best interests of the municipality." Councillor J. L. Hobbs moved its adoption and Councillor L. C. Hagan seconded it.

Nazi's Supreme U-Boat Gamble Failed, Says Churchill

Russia Soon to Join In Allied Air Blitz

LONDON (AP) — Following is the text of Prime Minister Churchill's speech today at the Guildhall:

I am deeply grateful for the kindness with which I have been treated, not only here today on this, to me, outstanding occasion, but in the whole discharge of my responsibilities.

The strain of protracted war is hard and severe upon men at executive summit of great countries, however lightly care may seem to sit upon them.

They have need of all the help and comfort their fellow workmen can give.

I feel myself buoyed up by your good will here today and indeed I have felt uplifted through all these years by the consideration with which the British people have treated me, even when serious mistakes have been made.

Always they have given a generous measure of trust and friendship, and I have never felt hindered or harassed, or rocketed in any of the decisions it is my duty to take in conjunction with my colleagues, or in regard to the matters it is my task to submit to Parliament.

There is no doubt that this consideration shown to their leader by the British people, though far above his deserts, is a very real and practical help in the conduct of the war. It gives me confidence to go on.

Of all the wars we have ever waged in the long continuity of our history, there has never been one which more truly united the entire British people and the British races throughout the world than this present fearful struggle for the freedom and progress of mankind.

Britain Entered War Convinced of Purpose

We entered it of our own free will without ourselves being directly assaulted. We entered it upon a conviction of purpose which was clearly comprehended by all classes and parties and by the whole mass of the people, and we have persevered together through good and evil fortune without the slightest weakening of our willpower or division of our strength.

We entered it ill-prepared and almost unarmed. We entered it without counting the cost, and upon a single stupendous impulse at the call of honor. We strove long, too long, for peace, and suffered thereby, but from the moment when we gave our guarantee that we would not stand by idly and see Poland trampled down by domination, we have never looked back, never flagged, never doubted, never flinched. We were sure of our duty, and we have discharged it without swerving or slackening, to the end.

We seek no profit, we want no territory or aggrandizement. We expect no reward, and we will accept no compromise. It is on that footing that we wish to be judged, first in our own consciences, and afterward by posterity.

It is even more remarkable that the unity which has existed and endured in this small, densely populated island should have extended with equal alacrity and steadfastness to all parts of our world-wide Commonwealth and Empire. Some people like the word Commonwealth. Others, and I am one of them, are not at all ashamed of the word Empire. But why should we not have both?

Wars come with great suddenness, and many of the deep, slow courses which lead to the explosion are often hidden from or only dimly comprehended by the masses of people even in the regions most directly affected. Time, distance, the decorum of diplomacy and a legitimate desire to preserve peace all impose their restraint upon public discussion and upon prior arrangement. Therefore, I think the expression British Commonwealth and Empire may well be found the most convenient means to describe this unique association of races which was built up partly by conquest, largely by consent but mostly unconsciously and without design, within all the embracing golden circle of the crown.

The British people, taught by the lessons they have learned in the past, have found the means to attach to the Motherland vast self-governing dominions upon whom there rests no obligation other than that of sentiment and tradition to plunge into war by the side of the Motherland. None of these dominions except Southern Ireland, which does not in its present dispensation accept Dominion status, has ever failed to respond.

Overpowering Impulse Influences Dominions

It is an overpowering influence and impulse that makes Canada and Australia, that makes New Zealanders and South Africans, send their manhood across the ocean to fight and die. In each one of these countries with its long and varied history behind it this extraordinary spectacle is an outstanding example of the triumph of mind over matter and of the human heart over short-sighted self-interest.

In the vast subcontinent of India, which we trust will presently find full satisfaction within the British Commonwealth of Nations, martial races and many others have thronged to the imperial standard. More than 2,000,000 have joined the armed forces and have distinguished themselves in many cases during the fiercest conflicts with the Germans, Italians and Japanese. All the great countries engaged in this war count their armies by the millions but the Indian army has a peculiar characteristic not found in the armies of Britain or the United States or Russia or France or in the armies of our foes in that it is entirely composed of volunteers. Not one has been conscripted or compelled.

The same thing is broadly true throughout the great colonial Empire. Many scores of thousands of troops from the immense tropical spaces or drawn from lonely islands nursed by the waves have come overseas. Many volunteers there were for whom we could not find arms. Many there are for whom we cannot find opportunity. But I say that the universal ardor of our colonial Empire to join in this awful conflict and continue in high temper through all its ups and downs is the answer that I would make to those ignorant, envious voices who call into question the greatness of the work we are doing throughout the world and which we shall continue to do.

World Deemed Empire's Ruin at Hand

Three years ago, all over the world, friend and foe alike, every one who had not an eye of faith, might well have deemed our speedy ruin was at hand. Against the triumphant might of Hitler with the greedy Italian at his tail we stood alone with resources so slender that one shudders to enumerate them even now.

Then surely was the moment for the Empire to break up, for each of its widely dispersed communities to seek safety on the winning side, for those who thought themselves oppressed to throw off their yoke and make better terms betimes with the conquering Nazi and Fascist. But what happened? It was proved that the bonds which unite us, though supple and elastic, are stronger than the tenuous steel. It was proved that they were bonds of the free and thus could rise superior alike to the most tempting allurements of surrender and the harshest threat of doom.

In that dark, terrific and also glorious hour we received from all parts of His Majesty's Dominions, from the greatest to the smallest, from the strongest to the weakest, from the most modern and the most simple, assurances that we would all go down or come through together. You will forgive me if on this occasion to me so memorable here in the heart of mighty London I rejoice in the soundness of our institutions and proclaim my faith in our destiny.

But now I must speak of the great republic of the United States whose power arouses no fear and whose pre-eminence excites no jealousy in British bosoms.

Upon the association and intimate alignment of the policy of the United States and the British Commonwealth and Empire depends more than upon any other factor the immediate future of the world. If they walk or, if need be, march together in harmony and in accordance with the moral and political conceptions to which the English-speaking peoples have given birth and which are frequently referred to in the Atlantic Charter, all will be well. If they fall apart and wander astray from the lines of their destiny there will be no end or measure to the miseries and confusion which would mark modern civilization.

This is no rhetorical extravagance in genial sentiment for a festive occasion; it is hard, cold, vindictive truth. Yet there are many light and wayward spirits in both our countries who show themselves by word and action unmindful of this fundamental fact. It is a fact in no way derogatory to the mighty nation now fighting by our side or to any nation great or small making its way through the perils of the present age.

We seek no narrow or selfish combination. We presume not at all upon the lawful interests and characteristics of any ally or friendly state.

We nourish the warmest feelings of fellowship toward the valiant Russian people with whom we have made a 20-years treaty of friendship and mutual aid.

We foresee an expanding future for the long-enduring Republic of China. We look forward to a revival of the unity and true greatness of France. We have the loyal and faithful comradeship of all.

Nevertheless the tremendous and awe-inspiring fact stares the British and American democracies between the eyes that, acting together, we can help all nations safely into harbor and that, if we divide, all will toss and drift for a long time on dark and stormy seas.

Assault On London Cemented Friendship

It is fitting in a singular manner to speak upon this theme of the fraternal association of Britain and the United States here amid the proud monuments and prouder ruins of the City of London, because nothing ever made warmer the feeling between the British and American peoples than the unflinching resistance of London to the formidable and prolonged assault of the enemy.

You have given me this casque which contains my title as Freeman of the City of London. I have not always been wrong about the future of events and if you will permit me I shall inscribe some of these words within it as my testimony, because I should like to be held accountable for them in the years which I shall not see, the phrase, "London can take it."

And the proof of it that was given stirred every generous heart in the United States and their illustrious chief, watching the whole scene of the world with the eyes of experience and conviction, sustained by the Congress of the United States, came to our aid with the famous Lend-Lease Act in the manner most serviceable to the great causes which were at stake.

There is no doubt that the sympathy of the United States for the cause of freedom and its thorough detestation of the Nazi creed and all the menace that it bears to American institutions had drawn the United States near the edge of the conflict when the foul Jap saw his chance to make his bid for Asiatic domination by striking his blow at Pearl Harbor.

Since then we and the Americans have waged war, sharing alike, taking the rough with the smooth, not as one people but certainly as though we were one army, one navy and one air force. So we shall continue like brothers, certainly until unconditional surrender and until our goals have been achieved and I trust until after all due measure has been taken so as to secure our safety in future years, safety from ill-use.

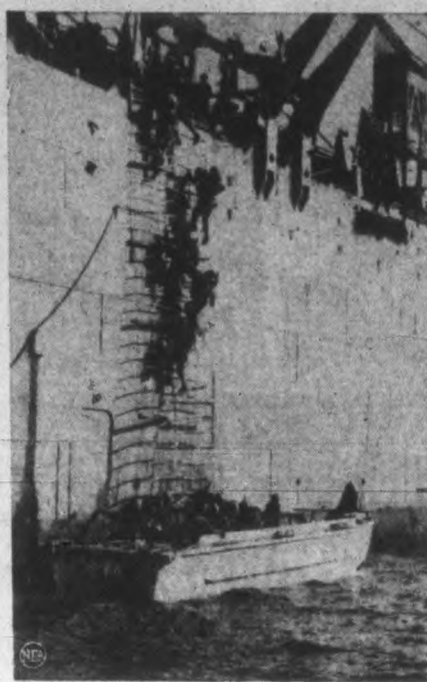

Should Hitler's Germany and Mussolini's Italy collapse under the fall of Soviet Russia and the net incalculable exertions of the British and American armies in the Mediterranean and elsewhere, and should the war industries of Germany be blasted out of existence by British and American air power; should this victory be achieved before Japan has been laid low I stand here to tell you today, as I told the Congress of the United States in your name, every man, every ship and every airplane in the King's service that can be moved to the Pacific will be sent and there maintained in action by the people of the British Commonwealth and Empire in priorities for as many years as are needed to make the Japanese in their turn submit or bite the dust.

The general progress of war is satisfactory. Two great battles were won by the Allies. Every one has heard of the battle in Tunisia when 350,000 Germans or Italians were made captive or slain and of the immense quantities of war material and shipping which were captured or destroyed. We have rejoiced soberly but all the more profoundly at this signal military episode, which ranks with the magnificent Russian victory at Stalingrad and which takes its place in Britain with her most famous victories.

There was another victory, a less notable battle which was fought in May in the Atlantic against the U-boats.

In May the German admiralty made extreme exertions to prevent the movement to Great Britain of the enormous convoys of food and materials which are continuously received from the government composed of leading men of all parties officially authorized by their parties to serve the state and only the state at the present juncture.

On the home front I submit with diffidence and confidence that in the important spheres of finance, labor, agriculture and food and several others I can mention efficient, vigorous and successful administration has been provided. This will bear comparison with what happened not only in the last war—which we also won—but has not been outclassed by what is happening in any other country or under any other system, democratic or totalitarian.

Our vast and influential newspaper press has known how to combine independence and liveliness with discretion and patriotism.

I rejoice that both Houses of Parliament have preserved even in our most bitter period full authority and freedom. As an old House of Commons man I would add that if I am here today to receive as Prime Minister the honors which you pay me it is because and only because of the resolute, overwhelming and unwavering support I have received from the most famous and most vital of all parliamentary assemblies.

Of all our institutions there is none which has served us better in the hour of need than our ancient monarchy. All that we have is centred upon and embodied by the King and Queen, most dearly beloved and honored by all the country. We all welcome back here our gracious and gallant King from his visit to the victorious army in Africa. None rejoices on his return with more fervor than his minister who took the responsibility for advising him not to restrain his royal pleasure in a journey of this peculiar character.

The general progress of war is satisfactory. Two great battles were won by the Allies. Every one has heard of the battle in Tunisia when 350,000 Germans or Italians were made captive or slain and of the immense quantities of war material and shipping which were captured or destroyed. We have rejoiced soberly but all the more profoundly at this signal military episode, which ranks with the magnificent Russian victory at Stalingrad and which takes its place in Britain with her most famous victories.

There was another victory, a less notable battle which was fought in May in the Atlantic against the U-boats.

In May the German admiralty made extreme exertions to prevent the movement to Great Britain of the enormous convoys of food and materials which are continuously received from the United States and which we must bring in safely if our war-making capacity is to be maintained. Long lines of U-boats were spread to meet these convoys and 15 or 20 U-boats were concentrated in each attack.

To meet this the British and American and Canadian forces of the sea and air hurled their strength at the U-boats. The fighting took place mainly around the convoys and also over a wide expanse of ocean. It ended in the total defeat of the U-boat attack.

U-Boat Sunk Daily Throughout May

More than 30 U-boats were certainly destroyed in the month of May, floundering in many cases with their crews in the dark depths of the sea. Staggered by these deadly losses the U-boats have recoiled to lick their wounds and mourn their dead.

Now as a result of the May victory and massacre of U-boats we have had in June the best month we have ever known in the whole 46 of the war. The prodigious shipbuilding exertions of the United States and the considerable contribution of Britain and also of Canada have produced an output of new ships which is somewhere between seven and 10 times as much as our losses from enemy action in the month of June.

Since the middle of May scarcely a single merchant ship has been sunk in the whole of the north Atlantic. In June also, although the convoys are not being seriously attacked at the present time, U-boat losses have been most solid and encouraging.

I give these facts purposely in a form which conveys the truth without giving precise or detailed information to circles wider than those with which we ourselves are concerned. There are two conclusions to be drawn from them. The first is that we must not assume that this great improvement will be maintained or that bad patches do not lie ahead. The second is that, although encouraged by the growing success of our methods, we must redouble our efforts and ingenuity.

The disasters of the U-boats in May and June have a bearing on another phase of our offensive war. These two months have seen the heaviest discharge of bombs on the munitions and industrial war centres of Germany.

Three years ago Hitler boasted he would rub out the cities of Britain. Certainly in the nine months before he abandoned his attack we suffered very heavy damage to our buildings and grievous hindrance to our life and work. More than 40,000 of our people were killed and 120,000 wounded. But now those who sowed the wind are reaping a whirlwind.

Amphibious forces, referred to by Mr. Churchill in his London speech today in connection with the "fighting before the leaves of autumn fall," use many types of landing craft. Top, left, troops are seen swarming down ladders into boats to head for the beaches. Top, and lower right, are armored "alligators" used to advance men and tanks from ship to shore and on the left, the new LCI (landing craft; infantry) run right up to the beach to send soldiers racing ashore direct from the gangplank let down into shallow water. The vessel is larger than the usual landing barges and is designed to operate close in to shore.

In the first half of this year the R.A.F. alone has cast on Germany 35 times the tonnage of bombs which in that same six months of this year has been discharged on this island. In one single night—may in one single hour—we had cast on Dueseldorf 2,000 tons of terrible explosive and incendiary bombs for a loss of 38 aircraft while in the whole first half of this same year the enemy had discharged on us no more than 1,500 tons of bombs at a cost of 245 aircraft.

U.S. Air Fleet Growing Rapidly

In addition to this the United States air fleet in this country, already so powerful and growing with extreme rapidity, has by precision daylight bombing inflicted grave injury upon the most sensitive nerve centre of the enemy's war production and American crews and pilots are continually performing feats of arms of the highest skill with dauntless audacity and devotion.

All these facts and tendencies, by no means unfavorable in their general character, must stimulate our joint exertion in the most intense degree and on an even vaster scale.

I have never indulged in shallow and fugitive optimism but I have thought it right to make this statement because I am sure it will not lead to the slightest complacency or relaxation of the awful force which now is being brought into action.

This force will be remorselessly applied to the guilty nations and their wicked leaders who imagined that their superiority of air power would enable them to terrorize and subjugate first all of Europe and afterward the world. They will be applied and never was there such a case of the bitter bitten.

During the summer our main attack has been upon the main-spring of German war industry—in the Ruhr—but as the nights become longer and as the United States air force becomes more numerous our strong arms will lengthen both by night and by day and there is no industrial or military target in Germany that will not receive as we deem necessary the utmost application of exterminating force.

The war industry of Germany has already to some extent been dispersed in numerous smaller towns. When the cities are disposed of we will follow it there.

Presently the weight of the Russian air attack, now mainly absorbed by their long front line, will contribute an additional quota to the total blitz.

This, I can quite well believe, the sombre prospect for the German people and one which Doctor Goebbels certainly is justified in painting in the darkest hue.

flitting almost all Europe; when we read of mass executions of Poles, Norwegians, Dutchmen, Czechoslovaks, Frenchmen, Jugoslavs and Greeks; when we see these ancient and honored countries to whose deeds and traditions Europe is heir, when we see them under this merciless alien yoke and when we see their patriots fighting with fierce desperation, we may feel sure we bear the sword of justice and we resolve to use that sword with the utmost severity to the fullest and to the end.

It is at this point that the heavy defeats recently sustained by the U-boats play their part in the general attack upon German morale. Apart from mysterious promises of revenge one hope which Doctor Goebbels holds out to the German people is that though they suffer the extreme tribulation of air bombing the U-boats on the ocean are inflicting equal (or even more deadly) injuries upon the British and American power to wage war. When that hope dies—and die it will—it will appear to the most dispassionate observer that a somewhat raw and bleak outlook is beginning to open itself before Hitler's accomplices and dupes. We must allow these corrective processes to take their course.

Meantime this is not a time for us to indulge in sanguine predictions. Rather should we remind ourselves of St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians: "Wherefore let him that thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall."

I may therefore say that our affairs are in considerably better posture than they were some time ago, and that we intend to remain steadfast and unwavering in doing our duty and our best, whatever may betide.

Italians Now Suffer From War of Nerves

I have still to speak of the war in the Mediterranean, about which there is so much talk at the present time. Mussolini's Italian Fascists, who are after all only a small privileged proportion of the real Italian nation, seem to be suffering from the war of nerves of which they and their German masters made so much use in former times. So far they have only been subjected to preliminary and discursive bombardments, but they already are speculating feverishly where the blow will fall and what will be its weight.

It is no part of our interest to relieve that anxiety. They may remember how they themselves struck at the Turks in Tripoli, at Abyssinia and Albania, and how they fell upon the Greeks and set out to conquer Egypt. And they may look back regretfully to the day when they used to disturb the peace of the world and when it rested with them which weaker community could be struck down first.

I can do nothing to help them resolve their fears, which, communicated to their allies, may perhaps have led to the remark-

Political Crisis In U.S. Greatest Since War Began

By J. F. SANDERSON

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States is passing through perhaps the greatest political crisis since it entered the war, with Congress and President Roosevelt pulling in opposite directions on domestic issues.

When Congress upset the President's veto of the anti-strike bill last week, it was merely the culmination of a congressional rebellion against phases of Roosevelt domestic policies that started months before. Within recent weeks Congress has nullified the President's $25,000 salary limitation, voted for a pay-as-you-go income tax plan that he opposed originally, voted to cut the appropriations for the domestic branch of the Office of War Information and prevented the administration from carrying out its food roll-back subsidy program.

NO ELECTION THERE

These incidents—and there are others—combine to show the extent of the congressional rebellion against the President. Some measure of its seriousness may be gauged from the fact that if the United States had been operating under a parliamentary system in which the executive was responsible to the legislative branch of government, there would have been a new government or an appeal to the electorate.

Under the U.S. constitution there is a different governmental set-up in which the executive and legislative branches are distinct although complementary. One is not responsible to the other and powers are divided. The effect is that Congress can prevent the President from doing what he wishes but cannot force him always to do what it wishes. Similarly the President cannot make Congress adopt a policy that he considers vital and which it opposes.

Fortunately for the United Nations, the White House Congress has limited domestic policies and has not touched the prosecution of the war in strictly military fields.

able long delay of the opening of the promised German offensive against Russia.

But I have some words of caution to say to our own people. First of all, great military operations are dominated by the risks and turns of the future. I know of no certainty in war, and that is particularly true of amphibious war. Therefore, any mood of overconfidence should be severely repressed.

Another point which should be comprehended is that all large and amphibious operations, especially if they require the co-operation of two or more countries, require long months of organization with refinements and complexities hitherto unknown. In war all impulses, impatient desires and sudden flashes of military instinct cannot hasten the course of events.

I cannot go further today than to say this—very probably there will be heavy fighting in the Mediterranean, and elsewhere, before the leaves of autumn fall.

Must Leave Axis Folk To Their Own Worries

For the rest we must leave the unhappy Italians and their German tempters and taskmasters' anxieties which will grow from week to week and from month to month.

This, however, I will add: We United Nations demand from the Nazi, Fascist and Japanese tyrannies unconditional surrender. By that we mean that their whole power to resist must be completely broken, and that they must yield themselves absolutely to our justice and mercy. It also means that we must take all those far-sighted measures which are necessary to prevent the world from being again convulsed and wrecked and blackened by their calculated blows and ferocious aggression.

It does not mean, and it never can mean that we are to stain our victorious arms by inhumanity, or by mere lust and vengeance, or that we do not plan a world in which all branches of the human family may look forward to the American constitution finely calls "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

By PETE SALLAWAY

VICTORIA and Vancouver ball clubs are bothered by the same worry — pitchers. In the mainland circuit the only club that has no mound troubles is Bellingham. And the Washington club is right up there at the top of the heap, enjoying a five-game winning streak at the present time. Mainland club managers do not hope for any letup in the situation, unless some pitchers capable of throwing something more than a straight ball are imported. It is estimated that three good flingers distributed among the clubs would make a big difference in the league. Added to the hurlers on hand it would give the teams a couple of hurlers ready for starting duties.

Now take the local league for instance. Just give either the V.M.D., Navy or Army one more good pitcher and that team would just about win the championship. The shipyarders are plenty tough to whip only when Tommy Musgrave is in the box. The same holds true for the Navy with Jimmy Dumeah working while the Army are at their best with Jerry Whitney on the mound. But give one of the three another first class hurler and it would give them a whale of an edge.

Just how Victoria and Vancouver clubs stack up will be seen tomorrow when the intercity series takes place between the visiting St. Regis and local out-fits. In the afternoon the services will combine to field an all-star aggregation against mainlanders with the V.M.D. providing the opposition at night. Results of these games will be a pretty good indication of how the local champions will fare in the B.C. championship playoff at the end of the season.

Night of champions is the best manner we know to describe the outdoor fight card to be presented at the Athletic Park Tuesday night. Class of boys appearing on the 35-round program is higher than anything offered here for some time. Vancouver and Seattle Golden Gloves winners appear in nearly every fight with a couple of Canadian and service champions thrown in for good measure. It is only because fighters of such high calibre are stationed in and near Victoria with the services that make such a card possible.

Whether or not Victoria will support good boxing will be determined Tuesday night. If promoter Jack Price's initial show gets the support he aims to present a card once a month. There is a wealth of material available for fights and Price will take advantage of the situation if the fans show they want to have boxing included on their sport menu.

Heavy Outside Entry For Revolver Shoot

With one of the largest out-of-town entry lists in the history of the event, the Victoria City Police Revolver Club's annual shoot opened today on the Thetis Lake range. It was announced that 44 competitors are entered from Seattle, Portland and Vancouver, bringing the total entry up to around 125.

Events included contests for teams, members of the armed forces, individual matches, novice policemen, aldermen and councilors, reeves and police commissioners.

Tonight at the Empress Hotel at 7 a club dinner will be held and two hours later Mayor McGavin will present the prizes on the top floor of the city police station. A dance will follow.

Dahlgren Shakes Challengers

NEW YORK (AP)—One by one the National League's ambitious batting stars seem to be giving up hope of Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren slowing down his hitting pace.

The ace of Philadelphia Phillies has outlasted numerous challengers and today still was in first place among the senior circuit's hitters with an average of .351. This was a slip of seven points from his mark of last week, but well above his rivals.

Harry Walker and Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals and Billy Herman of Brooklyn Dodgers, who have run second to Dahlgren at one time or another recently, all have faded from contention. Herman dropped 15 points in the last week to .325 and yielded the runner-up spot to Frank McCormick of Cincinnati with .336. Third was Lonnie Frey of the Reds with .323, who

Good Ticket Sale For Tuesday's Fight

With a good advance sale of tickets reported today, Promoter Jack Price went ahead with final plans for staging his big outdoor fight card at the Athletic Park Tuesday night.

Price has still not decided on his semi-windup for the Harvey Dubs-Young Tommy Burns 10-round main event. The billing rests between the Jackie Turner-Bobby Parker scrap and the bout between Norm Dawson and Hank Egli. It is likely that Dawson and Egli, a couple of hard punchers will draw the semi over six rounds.

Other bouts definitely set for the show are Vic Murdoch and a lad named Bundy and Burnell against Schriteler. Preliminary bouts will be four rounds.

Burns, member of the Canadian army, will be in Victoria over weekend. He has been working out regularly on the mainland and will taper off his training over here.

Army-Flyers Ball Opponents Tonight

Tonight's ball game at Athletic Park will see the third-place Army battle the fourth-position R.C.A.F., starting at 6.30. Army are half a game back of the runner-up Navy. Each club could do with a win and for that reason a keen engagement is looked for.

Jerry Ray is expected to take the mound for the Flyers, with Bill Prior, Stan Curry or Lefty Medansky slated to work for the troops.

Pigeon Racing

Victoria District Racing Pigeon Club held a race from Red Pass Junction, an airline distance of 370 miles. The birds made good time, 9 lofts with 39 birds competing, liberated at 6 a.m., first bird home owned by A. Hardy at 5.20.7 p.m., making a velocity of 943.34 yards per minute. Results as follows:

Hardy	5.20.27	946.23
W. E. Tail	5.21.30	945.5
W. Cox	5.22.54	945.37
J. Bowcott	5.24.04	944.98

Hardy won the pool.
The last old bird race will be held from Edison, Alberta, July 3, when the winner of the Colonial Cup will be decided. Birds will be marked July 1 from 11.30 to 12, at 845 Pandora Avenue.

Wild and cultivated fiqu, which resembles the Mexican henqueen used in rope-making, is gathered around Cucutilla, Colombia; its fibers are used in making coffee bags.

Navy, Flyers Win Softball

Softballers had a great time "baiting" the umpires as the Navy and R.C.A.F. marked up victories in the senior men's doubleheader Tuesday night. Bluejackets retained their place at the top of the heap with a 5 to 1 triumph over the Army while the Flyers moved into undisputed possession of second place with an 8 to 1 victory over the Victoria Machinery Depot.

It was a tough night for the umpires with arguments and protests numerous in both games. On one occasion during the Flyers-V.M.D. game, secretary Ed Whyte rushed on to the diamond in an effort to stop the arguing and get play under way. The Navy-Army battle saw base umpire Collision draw a lot of squawks, especially from the Army management, and at one time the official walked from the field but returned to finish the game.

Grabbing a six-run lead in the first two innings the Flyers had little trouble winning from the V.M.D. behind the six-hit hurling

Draft Hits Big League Baseball

Cards Lose Jimmy Brown; Stephens Out

The major leagues had a double reason to be "war conscious" today. The first was that this is the first of the two days this season set aside by all major league clubs for donating all receipts to the National War Relief Fund, and the other was that the draft has just touched baseball anew.

Three top-ranking players were called for induction Tuesday, and out of the riot the army took one, Jimmy Brown, captain of St. Louis Cardinals, and rejected two, Vernon Stephens and George McQuinn of St. Louis Browns.

This served to reopen discussion of the effect of the draft on the pennant races. Tuesday's developments should help the last-place Browns toward their goal of finishing in the American League's first division, and might slow down, but hardly could stop, the campaign of the Cardinals for another National League flag.

At the start of the season all clubs had been tapped by selective service in a remarkably equitable ratio. The strongest clubs were hit hardest, and the weakest clubs lightest. This has evened up the pennant race till they are as tight as ever in history.

OTHER CALLS PENDING

Draft calls are pending for key players of other clubs—for Babe Dahlgren of the Phillies, the National League's batting leader; for Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds, for Gerry Priddy and Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators, and others, whose loss before the season ends may have a direct effect on the final standings.

But with the season nearly half gone, the demands of war have not had a damaging effect on the ranking of any club, except New York Giants, whose last-place position in the National League is the result of inductions before the season opened, and the failure of the club to try for adequate replacements.

'Nerts' Parent Batting Leader In Local League

It's a merry scramble for the batting championship in the senior baseball league with five players clouting the ball over 400. Setting a 479 pace for the remainder of the boys to try and match is "Nerts" Parent, pint-sized shortstop of the R.C.A.F. Parent has played in all his team's games, been at bat 48 times, collected 23 hits and scored 20 runs.

Parent is also setting the pace for base stealing at the end of the first half of the league with 11. Laurel Harney, V.M.D. catcher, and Chuck Restell, V.M.D. outfielder, run Parent a close second, each with 10 pilfered bags.

Ian Lowe, V.M.D. shortstop, and last year's batting champion, holds second place in the batting averages with a mark of .440 while third place goes to Babe Work, V.M.D. first sacker, with .431. Nick Metz's average of .419 gives the Army shortstop fourth place with Gil Bruce, Navy outfielder, fifth with .408.

Three Horses Draw Favor for Canadian Derby at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP)—An eastern-bred horse and two western thoroughbreds loom as favorites for the third running of the rich $5,000 three-year-old Canadian Derby tomorrow at Polo Park.

The eastern horse is Sweepgold, owned by Harry C. Hatch of Toronto, while the western horses are Western Prince, owned by the Montreal Braeside Stable, and Baby Broom, the property of H. A. Shepherd of Winnifred, Alta.

Hatch's Sweepgold will be the lone eastern entry in the race which will pay the winner $3,500 and the breeder $250. A winner of $1,610 last year, Sweepgold comes to western Canada well regarded.

Early this spring he set a record for a mile and 70 yards at Toronto Woodbine and in the recent 1943 renewal of the historic King's Plate he set the pace only to fall back in later stages to finish seventh.

Western Prince was western juvenile champion last year, posting five firsts, one second and four thirds to accumulate $3,145 in winnings. Shipped to Calgary for the Alberta Derby this spring, the Prince beat other derby candidates over a six-and-a-half-furlong trial and wound up third in the derby itself.

BARGAIN COIT

Baby Broom, bargain colt of this year's derby as he was bought as a foal for $125, was the winner of the Alberta Derby. Last year's Canadian Derby was won by Maginot Line, owned by Dr. L. H. Appleby of Vancouver. Maginot Line defeated a field which included the highly rated Ten To Ace.

Seven and possibly eight thoroughbreds will start in this year's derby. In addition to Sweepgold, Western Prince and Baby Broom, other eligibles are Buddy Marcus, owned by C. Patrician of Calgary; Here's Harvey, from Austin, Tex.; Larry Junior, owned by J. Yates of Calgary; Pagan Pilot and Gloverdale, both from Calgary stables.

Lawn Bowling

Tomorrow the "Victoria Lawn Bowling Club" will hold afternoon and morning games on the greens in Beacon Hill Park. Men's doubles start at 9 and mixed rinks at 2. Prizes given for highest rinks, and members of other clubs are invited to take part.

3 Badly Injured In Motorbike Crash

Raymond Rand, 3806 Rowland; Derek Henry, 927 Esquimalt, and David Leese, 43 South Turner, suffered injuries at 4 this morning when the motorcycle, driven by Rand, with the other two as passengers, crashed into a telephone pole on Esquimalt Road, between Dalton and Bowlsby Place, according to a city police report.

Court Case Follows Downtown Navy Melee

One member of the shore patrol was reported in hospital receiving attention for a broken nose, one naval rating was fined in City Police Court today for breaking the Cunningham Drug Co. store window on "Pusser's Corner," an inquiry was proceeding at the naval barracks and several members of the shore patrol nursed bruises from a melee at the corner of Yates and Douglas Tuesday night.

Reports of the incident listed varying numbers participating in the fight between sailors, allegedly all from one ship, and the shore patrol. As the battle waged, fights spread from the corner out to the streetcar track on Yates.

The shore patrol member was reported the most seriously hurt. One account said he had been kicked in the face.

One report said the trouble started when two shore patrol sought to correct a sailor on the corner. According to that informant, shipmates of the man closed on the pair and started fighting. A call was sent to headquarters for reinforcements and a half dozen arrived in the patrol. City police were summoned to assist and fighting spread around the corner from Douglas out onto the street.

A bystander said two civilians who appeared to be in the altercation at the start, left when the navy men started to shove each other around.

Military police were reported on the south corner of the intersection ready for action if any in khaki joined the fray.

Cause of the trouble was reported to be a misunderstanding on the part of some sailors who were said to believe one of their group had been unjustly treated. In city police court Albert D. Harusyn, rating, sprang to attention in the prisoner's dock and pleaded guilty to a charge of willfully damaging property. The charge was laid following the action which broke the store window.

L.S. Ed. Frost of the shore patrol said he had been escorting the accused to the patrol wagon during the fight, when his prisoner pushed him through the window. He said he had moved quickly and avoided serious injury from the falling glass, which nicked the back of his jumper.

A real estate agent assessed the damage at $64.51.

Harusyn said he had been watching the excitement, when his hat fell off. As he stooped to pick it up someone grabbed him. He struggled to get free, and pushed Frost through the window, he said.

He offered to pay $5 a month out of his $16 allowance to replace the window.

Magistrate Henry Hall, stating there appeared to be no malicious intent, as far as the window breaking was concerned, allowed a light sentence, imposing a $5 fine, with the understanding Harusyn would pay for the window.

Crowds gathered to see the battle, which started about 8. They saw shore patrol members and city police attacked by groups of sailors. No weapons nor clubs were used.

The shore patrol, limited in action through regulations, were far outnumbered, and city police were required to quell the disturbance.

Covered Wagon Days Pioneer Dies Here

James Barker, pioneer resident of Victoria, passed away Tuesday at the age of 92 years. He had lived in Victoria for the past 38 years.

Born in London, England, he went with his parents to New York as a child, later going to Nebraska.

In the year of 1883 with his wife and family he joined a party of 40 families who with their possessions left Nebraska in covered wagons for the Pacific coast.

After nearly a year of travel over mountains and plains the party arrived at the site of the city of Seattle.

In 1885 Mr. Barker with his family moved to Victoria, and followed his trade of brickmaking, the first bricks made and burned by him being used in the original portion of the Jubilee Hospital and the original Esquimalt Drydock. After many years at his trade he retired and lived at his farm at Strawberry Vale.

He leaves three daughters, three sons, 11 grandchildren and 25 great grandchildren.

Teacher Shortage In Rural Districts Causing Concern

Prospective shortage of teachers is causing the education department concern, Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education, said today following his return from a 10-day school inspection trip of the central northern interior of the province, accompanied by his deputy, Dr. S. J. Willis.

"We anticipate quite a bad situation," Mr. Perry said. "In some districts it will be worse than last year."

Teachers are not leaving because of dissatisfaction with salaries, the minister said.

"As far as we could learn there is not one teacher leaving because of this," he said, "but because of two emotional factors over which I have no concern—marriage and enlistment in the armed services."

In addition, he said, some teachers leave because of climate and there is always the magnet of larger centres.

To show the seriousness of the situation, Mr. Perry instanced Omiceva electoral district where there were 61 teachers when school closed last week. In September, Mr. Perry said, only 11 of these will be back on the job.

"We're watching the situation with a good deal of concern," he said.

102 Years Old Tomorrow

Mrs. Jason Harns Post, who was born at Richmond near Ottawa, July 1, 1841, and who lived in New York State during the days of the American Civil War, will celebrate her 102nd birthday Thursday, at Mount St. Mary. A resident of Victoria for more than 50 years, Mrs. Post still remembers the Point Ellice bridge disaster of 1896 when her daughter-in-law and grandson lost their lives. In fairly good health and happy, although she is blind, Mrs. Post retains her fine memory.

Income Tax Deadline

Payers Smile and Stores Say Business Undisturbed

Victoria paid its 1942 income tax with a smile.

Reflecting wartime prosperity, merchants throughout the city felt little of the usual peacetime drop in business that occurred the month income tax was due, and June 30, last day for filing tax forms, found citizens camping on the doorstep of the Income Tax Office, 920 Gordon, cheerfully prepared to pay up, whether it was $10 or $110.

From assessor-in-charge of Dominion Income Tax Office, F. B. Griffin, to a local real estate man, Eric H. Gilmer, who spent four days and evenings filling out one customer's form, those dealing with the income-tax-paying public had nothing but praise for their attitude.

Income tax falling due has meant a little decrease in credit sales, but has had practically no effect on cash sales, credit managers said today. It has had no effect on collections at all.

Merchants throughout town felt people were able to meet their taxes and at the same time continue with their regular store purchases because of the fact that they were prepared for the tax this year. A slight drop in jewelry business was noted by Hugh Francis, president of the Retail Merchants' Association.

He felt that business generally might find a slight decrease in sales, owing to the increased taxes this year.

"There was no drop at all in 1942, but there was a little this year," he said.

Government regulation regarding purchase of articles on installment and by charge account was one reason why payment of income tax would not have the same effect on business this year, as it might have in former years, in the opinion of a credit manager.

People must have their accounts paid up by a set time, under government regulations, or the account is closed, he said.

FORM FILLERS BUSY

Real effect of the income tax falling due was felt in the office of Swinerton and Co. Ltd., where the staff worked virtually from dawn until the winking hour of midnight for the past three weeks filling out forms for hundreds of harassed Victorians. The company had advertised that they would fill out forms and business became almost bedlam at times.

"There was never anything like it. There weren't one-tenth the taxpayers a year ago that there are now," Eric Gilmer and Duncan Campbell, directors, stated this morning.

"People reacted pleasantly and were prepared for their income tax this year; in fact, some got quite a surprise when they learned they were to get a refund," said Mr. Gilmer as he poured over his own income tax form. "I've been so busy filling out everybody else's I haven't had time for my own."

Though some people sought help to fill out the simplified T-1 special form, the majority who called for help were men and women with investments and incomes which necessitated their filling out T-1 general. Firms throughout the city who advertised the income tax service found themselves aiding retired bankers, chartered accountants as well as shipyard workers filling in income tax forms for the first time.

One wage earner announced, that if a small fee could keep him out of Escondale, he would be glad to have someone else handle his tax headache. The service includes sending cheques or money orders along with the form, made out to the Receiver General of Canada.

ONE TOOK 4 DAYS
Four days and evenings were spent on one income tax form alone. It had been incorrectly filled out in another city and returned to the man, now in Victoria, who took it to have it untangled.

Local banks do not expect to feel the effect of income tax payments until July is well under way, as the cheques will begin going through within the next few days.

Seventy and 80 people at a time have been jam-packed the Dominion Income Tax office on Gordon Street according to Mr. Griffin, and the last-day rush is expected to last until the deadline of 7 tonight.

"We have been over-run every day, but people were pretty well able to fill out their forms after we had answered a number of different questions for them. They all accept income tax this year as just something that has to be," he said.

Yes, Mr. Griffin filed his own income tax—"the day before yesterday."

PENALTIES FOR TARDY
If they are to escape penalties for late filing, Canadians must deliver their income tax returns to the tax inspectors today or have them in the mail by midnight tonight.

The June 30 deadline applies to personal and corporate income tax returns, although the "T-2 questionnaire," introduced for the first time this year and supplementary to the T-2 corporate return, may be filed by July 31 without penalty.

However, the extension of time for filing the T-2 questionnaire will be given only if it is accompanied by an auditor's certificate.

B.C. Electric to Study Cities' Proposals

Premier John Hart and high executives of the B.C. Electric Railway Company got together today and officially started the move that is expected to lead to B.C. municipalities taking over the entire assets and services of the company.

The meeting took place in the Premier's office at the Parliament Buildings. The B.C. Electric was represented by W. G. Murrin, president, and E. H. Adams and A. T. Goward, vice-presidents.

"I placed before them the proposal of the cities and municipalities to purchase their assets," Mr. Hart said. "I was advised by Mr. Murrin that he will submit the correspondence to his directors for consideration and he will advise me in due course as to their views."

Mr. Hart said he and the three executives had an informal and long talk about all angles of the proposal.

"The matter was fully discussed," the Premier said.

Monthly meeting of the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed until July 8.

July Liquor Rations
"We will carry on in July the same as we did in June," W. F. Kennedy, chairman of Liquor Control Board, said today when asked if permit holders could expect any more liquor next month. The July ration, therefore, will be 13 ounces of spirits or two dozen pint bottles of beer, two bottles of imported wine or one gallon of domestic wine. There is a possibility there might be a little more liquor per permit holder before the end of October, when a more plentiful supply is expected.

Part of Elk Lake
Open to Swimmers

A resolution permitting bathing and swimming in part of Elk Lake, while forbidding a portion of it to the public, was passed by Sagich Municipal Council Tuesday night.

Based upon recommendations of the Dominion Sanitary Inspector of the Department of Health, the provincial sanitary engineer and the municipal medical health officer, Dr. J. L. Gayton, the lake will be divided into two portions, in one of which bathing, swimming or wading will be prohibited. The prohibited section will be the northwest corner in which is located the intake for a supply of water to be used for domestic purposes.

According to recommendations of all the inspectors who studied the matter, a ban upon all swimming, wading and bathing within

Harry Crocker In 'Gentleman Jim'

Harry Crocker, bon vivant, wit, columnist and now, actor, at last succumbed to Hollywood's cameras.

Crocker, scion of the famous
San Francisco family, was persuaded by Warner Bros. to abandon his customary duties long enough to don greasepaint for "Gentleman Jim," the new Warner Bros. picture which opens Thursday at the Cadet Theatre. He plays his own illustrious great grandfather, Charles

'Keeper of Flame'
Dramatic Story

What would a newspaper reporter do if he discovered that the woman he loved was guilty of murder?

That's the problem which confronts Spencer Tracy in "Keeper of the Flame," in which he is co-starred with Katharine Hepburn and which is coming tomorrow to the Atlas Theatre.

The picture marks the first co-starring appearance of this team since their hilarious "Woman of the Year." The new picture is a powerfully dramatic love story.

Long known as one of the outstanding character actors in Hollywood, Thomas Mitchell has

'Seven Sweethearts' At York Thursday

Men in the armed forces have taken these screen sisters to their hearts. Honorary titles, fan mail, and requests for autographed pictures and phonograph recordings fighting men are keeping their eyes and thoughts on the beauties in "Seven Sweethearts," opening

Thursday at the York Theatre.

Kathryn Grayson, singing star, receives numerous requests for records of her voice.

Frances Rafferty, Dorothy Morris and Marsha Hunt have autographed pictures hanging in many tents and barracks. Peggy Moran has been given insignia from outfits and figures that her fan mail has increased 50 per cent since.

Cecilia Parker learns that she has been voted "Queen of the Motorized Corps," "Sweetheart of the Regiment" and "Star of the Flying Cadets."

Canadian Pacific

Neal Sees in North Great Opportunities

EDMONTON (CP) — W. M. Neal, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian Pacific Airlines, returned from a 4,000-mile tour of the north, Tuesday, and pictured that area as a possible tourist paradise after the war, and with great opportunities for mining, timbering, and even industrial development.

He was particularly impressed with Akavik, far northern outpost on the rim of the Arctic Ocean, where he talked with Eskimos, and slept with other members of his party in sleeping bags above a trading post, because of lack of other accommodation.

This, along with meals of reindeer stew, he enjoyed very much, and said he was definitely sold on the north country. Traveling by plane and train, the party visited McMurray, Smith, Simpson, Norman, Eldorado and Yellowknife, Y.T., and was the first trip Mr. Neal had taken so far north. He leaves today for Whitehorse and, possibly, Dawson City, and back to Fort St. John, B.C., for a look at the southern end of the Alaska highway.

He will go to Calgary for the opening of the Stampede, Monday.

Capt. Jas. Griffiths Passes at Seattle

Capt. James Griffiths, 82, pioneer Northwest shipping man and dean of Pacific coast yachting, passed away at his Seattle home Tuesday night after a long illness.

He was the head of the well-known shipping firm of James Griffiths and Sons, shipowners and operators; Coastwise Steamship and Barge Company, and Winslow Marine Railway and Shipbuilding Company.

CAPT. JAS. GRIFFITHS
... dean of yachting.

"Jim" Griffiths was that type of sturdy yachtsman who, through his business activities, had the love of the water inbred in him, and who, when he finally had the occasional leisure to enjoy himself, turned to yachting in keeping with his instincts and traditions.

In this connection, Victoria, particularly the local yachting fraternity, knew him intimately.

He was a member of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club almost from the inception of the club, was four times commodore of the Seattle Yacht Club and twice admiral of the Pacific International Yachting Association.

ORGANIZED P.I.Y.A.
Capt. Griffiths was one of the organizers and first admiral of the P.I.Y.A., which governs the yachting activities of the Pacific Northwest.

As commodore of the Seattle Yacht Club he steered it through a period of financial complications and took an active part in promoting its races and activities.

He took a similarly active part in the affairs of the Pacific International Yachting Association and was regarded with the same affection and gratitude among the yachtsmen of Victoria, Vancouver, Tacoma, Bellingham and other northwest cities, as in his own club.

The enthusiasm and thoroughness which characterized Capt. Griffiths' club and organization activities has been evident in his cruising and the enjoyment he has had from his yachts.

OWNED SUEJA III
From standpoint of mileage, few boats have covered the distance in the same number of years as Sueja II and Sueja III.

Always on these trips Capt. Griffiths has taken with him a generous number of his friends and experienced his greatest happiness out of the pleasure he gave his guests.

His boats were named through a combination of his wife's name and his own—"Sue-Ja."

Sueja III, always prominent in the fleets attending the P.I.Y.A. regattas, invariably was the judge's boat at the local events.

Capt. Griffiths probably had more honors bestowed on him than any other man in the sport of yachting. In each case it was richly deserved and was the reward of unselfish and constructive service.

Most fitting of the recognition given him was by the Seattle Yacht Club at its annual meeting in 1934 when the members voted unanimously to amend the by-laws creating the new office of honorary commodore and bestowing this title on Capt. Griffiths for life.

Born at Newport, Monmouthshire, England, Capt. Griffiths came to the Pacific northwest in 1885, settling first at Tacoma as the shipping broker, commission merchant and stevedoring firm of James Griffiths and Co. He also organized the Tacoma Steam Navigation Co.

In 1896, Capt. Griffiths represented James J. Hill and the Great Northern Railway in negotiations with N.Y.K. when that line made Seattle a terminal port. He built the first seagoing tug on Puget Sound and operated the first Pacific coast barge.

NEW YORK (AP) — Encouraging events on the war front generated a selective buying interest in today's stock market in which air transports, chemicals and specialties achieved the best gains.

Advances ranged from fractions to more than a point near the close. Transactions totaled around 900,000 shares.

Winston Churchill's cheerful report on the destruction of U-boats and his prediction of heavy fighting before the end of summer had a generally good effect on market sentiment.

Among Canadian issues, Canadian Pacific, Hiram Walker, Distiller Seagram and Lake Shore were up fractions of a point. Dome Mines lost 1/4.

SET UP MOORING BUOYS
William L. Stamford, agent for the Department of Transport, advises mariners that on or about July 15 the naval service will establish two mooring buoys in Vancouver Harbor, as follows:

No. 1—Western buoy: 0330 5583 ft. from Brockton Pt. Light-house. Latitude: 49° 18' 33" N. Longitude: 123° 05' 47" W.

No. 2—Eastern buoy: 038° 5969 ft. from Brockton Pt. Light-house. Latitude: 49° 18' 31" N. Longitude: 123° 05' 37" W.

These buoys will be attached to a ground mooring chain and anchors extending 120 feet beyond and on each side of the buoys. Vessels should not anchor within a radius of 150 feet from the buoys or between them.

Declines General

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market finished the month in a mildly soft price tone and in dull trading. Both mining groups and the industrials posted small declines and the western oils showed little net change. Volume for the day was around 385,000 shares. The market will remain closed tomorrow for the Dominion Day holiday.

Utilities, foods and senior oils closed on the down side.

Home Oil, British-Dominion, South End Pete and Pacalta were stronger western oils, while small declines were noted by Davies East Crest and Model.

Dorothy Dix:

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have a daughter, 21 years old, who is engaged to a fine young man who is now in the service. Since he has gone she has been going out quite often with a boy who is younger than she is and who does not come from a very respectable family. I tell her that as long as she wears one man's ring she should not be going out with another, and especially with a man we will not let come to the house because we are decent people and do not care to associate with such as he is.

My daughter resents my advice very much. Don't you think girls should listen to their mothers when they warn them about their conduct for their own good? WORRIED MOTHER.

MOTHERS CAN HELP DAUGHTERS

Answer: Certainly mothers have a right to give advice to their daughter, but there is no way of making the daughters take it. Many a girl would save herself a lot of grief if she would only listen to her mother's wise counsel, but nobody has invented any sort of hearing device that would make it register either in her brain or her conscience.

Which, of course, is a great pity, because, whether daughter believes it or not, just living has taught mother a lot of wisdom. She has learned much from her own mistakes and from observing the mistakes of other women, and she would like to pass on this hard bought knowledge to her girl if she only could. But she can't. Daughter has to earn it for herself, through tears and suffering, and often when she has learned her lesson it is too late to do her any good.

A girl who is engaged to one man should not be playing around with another. It isn't giving him a fair deal. If she doesn't care enough for her fiancé to be faithful to him, she should be square enough to tell him so. And this is particularly the case when the man is off fighting for his country. We owe our soldiers better treatment than that.

True Mahogany Tree Is Native of New World

In the mountains of California there grow shrubs with very hard, woody stems. Early settlers called these shrubs "hard tack."

Today the same shrubs often go by the name of "small leaf mountain mahogany." The wood is not true mahogany, but it is one of several kinds of wood loosely classed with mahogany. The Philippine Islands supply an excellent reddish wood known as "Philippine mahogany." Africa and Australia also have so-called "mahogany."

The true mahogany tree is a native of the New World. When Sir Walter Raleigh visited the West Indies in 1595, one of his sailing vessels was found to be in need of repair. A carpenter cut a mahogany tree on the island of Trinidad, and used the hard wood in fixing the vessel.

Close to a century later, a British sea captain named Gibbons needed ballast for a ship which he was sailing back from the West Indies. He chose as ballast a number of mahogany logs.

The captain's brother, Dr. William Gibbons, saw the logs after the vessel returned to England.

"Will you let me use these logs to cut lumber for the new house I am going to build?" asked Dr. Gibbons.

"Certainly," replied the captain. Dr. Gibbons turned the logs over to carpenters, but soon they came to him and said, "We can't make lumber out of those logs. The wood is too hard."

The logs would have gone to waste if it had not been for a cabinetmaker named Wollaston. This man agreed to make some furniture for the doctor from the hard wood.

It was slow and painful work, but at last Wollaston produced a box to hold candles, also a bureau. People who saw the beautiful grain. The cabinetmaker was allowed to use the rest of the logs to make furniture for other customers.

The world's present supply of true mahogany comes largely from Cuba, Venezuela, Mexico and Central America. Some of the finest wood has come from tall trees cut in Honduras. Mahogany trees sometimes reach a height of from 80 to 100 feet. (For nature or general interest section of your scrapbook.)

Kiwanians Learn Youth Viewpoint

More hospitals in Victoria and a plan for preventive medicine were among suggestions advocated by Jack Syme, youngest member of the board of directors of the Y.M.C.A., when he spoke before the Kiwanis Club at noon Tuesday on "The Problems of Youth."

Mr. Syme told of a recent conference he attended at Toronto at which representatives of "Y" organizations in both peacetime fields and war services were in attendance from Halifax to Victoria, and at which leaders in many walks of life such as the forces, social services, town planning and public health were the speakers.

He said that the conference showed that young people today were intensely concerned with what the postwar world was to be like, and discussed many subjects that had to do with it, such as social services, education, public health and town planning.

Mr. Syme said that the young people are concerned over the fact that 44 per cent of the youth applying for enlistment today are turned down for physical reasons. He said the conference was of the opinion that this showed a need for increased public health services and health education.

Outlining briefly some of the work of the "Y," Mr. Syme pointed out ways in which older men such as the service clubs could help in the work among boys and thanked the Kiwanis for their efforts along these lines.

He said: "The problems of youth in this war-torn world are, after all, the problems of age—they are those of fighting, taxes, labor and home-making."

However he urged that while the young people of today are affected by world conditions, many of them will still be too young to have much say in determining the postwar world, and he charged those who were responsible for the decisions within the next few years, to build with a thought for the young people who are coming, along and will have to face the world of tomorrow.
